

Have Your Say!

We are part of consortium of 42 members who worked together to successfully secure Government funding to radically change the way our industries train and enable career long transitions. The Consortium project is called the Construction and Infrastructure Centre of Vocational excellence, or ConCOVE.

Funding has been approved for five projects and five years, so this is a major investment that will change how we develop as an industry. Consultation to date has clearly identified a need to radically transform entry-level training and qualifications for some job types. The proposal is to embed them more fundamentally within the world of meaningful and paid work. This is about transformation, innovation, and diversity, by industry for industry.

Transformation, Innovation, Diversity
