There are building products that have been used in the past that can be either detrimental to future floor work or even a health hazard if we encounter them. With both renovation and insurance work, we do come across them and therefore we need to aware and have an understanding of how these may affect our work. This webinar will focus on asbestos and magnesite but will include other hidden aspects needing to be considered such as mould, working on NCC non-compliant stairs and subfloors that are not level.
